

CPI Quarterly Review

A Message From CPI

Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays!

You may agree that 2016 has gone by in the blink of an eye, so I'd like to take a moment to thank each of you for allowing us to stay in contact and share career-related information. At some point in time, we have been in direct contact with you to discuss your career goals. Whether we helped you find a new career path, or we simply served as a sounding board for career discussions, we appreciate your confidence in our search firm.

May the coming year be one of joy, peace, laughter and love. Happy Holidays to you and yours!

Below are some of our hottest job searches. Please feel free to share with anyone who may be interested in considering a new career opportunity in 2017.

Warm Regards,

Roni Snyder

President

The All Important Interview Question:

“What have you done to make money, save money, or improve a process to impact your company’s bottom line”?

When it comes to interviewing, companies feel that past performance is the best indicator of future success. Potential employers want to know what you’re capable of contributing and if you’ll be a worthwhile investment for them. If you can readily list projects along with measured achievements to the above question, then you’re prepared for a successful interview. If you can’t, you’ll want to analyze what you’ve actually contributed to your current employer.
